The Plaintiff, Shepherd, fell as a result of a defectively repaired display cabinet that created a dangerous condition. The Plaintiff fell as a result of a protruding piece of material under the display cabinet that caught Mr. Shepherd's shoe. This caused Mr. Shepherd to fall as he turned to walk away from the display cabinet. The defect violated industry standards and code requirements designed to protect pedestrians.

6. Defendant Shoppers Food Warehouse leased and exercised control over the property, including the display case that was used to market goods to the business invitees.

7. At all times in question, the Plaintiff, Shepherd, acted in a careful and prudent manner, without any negligence contributing to the resultant accident.

8. Defendant Supervalu, Inc. owned the display case that had the dangerous condition.

9. Defendant James Spradbrow was the director for the Supervalu, Inc. store and had supervisory responsibility to make sure that the property was safe and free of hazards for business invitees. This responsibility included determining whether to attempt a repair of a display case with untrained personnel or to hire a professional contractor to repair the display case.

COUNT ONE

10. Plaintiff hereby repeats and realleges, as though set forth fully herein, the allegations contained in Paragraphs 1 through 9 of this Complaint.

11. The Defendants had a duty to maintain the display case in a safe condition for pedestrians and business invitees like the Plaintiff to safely walk to and from the display cases in the store.

12. As a direct and proximate result of the aforesaid fall, which was caused by the negligence of the Defendants, Supervalu, Inc. and James Spradbrow, and the Plaintiff, Shepherd, who was at all times exercising due care, suffered severe pain and permanent injuries to his body, including a severe fracture to his hip and permanent scarring.

13. The Defendants failed to warn the plaintiff of the hazardous condition hidden on the underside of the display case, failed to properly repair a display case that had been damaged by Supervalu, Inc.'s agents, contractors or employees, and failed to maintain the display case in safe condition. The Defendants negligently failed to use steel guards to protect the display case from being damaged by employees, agents and customers moving merchandise in the store.

14. As a further direct and proximate result of the aforesaid negligence of the Defendants Supervalu, Inc., and James Spradbrow, the Plaintiff, Shepherd, has been forced to expend and will continue to expend large sums of money for hospitalization, x-rays, doctors, nurses, medical treatment, and medicine for treatment of the aforesaid injuries to himself.

15. As a further direct result of the negligence of Defendants Supervalu, Inc., and James Spradbrow, the Plaintiff, Shepherd, was forced to remodel his home to accommodate his various temporary and permanent disabilities as a result of his injuries.

Wherefore, the Plaintiff, Edward Shepherd, seeks judgment against Defendants Supervalu, Inc., and James Spradbrow in an amount exceeding Seventy Five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00), plus interest and costs of this suit.

COUNT TWO
Negligent Supervision

16. Plaintiff hereby repeats and realleges, as though set forth fully herein, the allegations contained in Paragraphs 1 through 15 of this Complaint.

19. The Plaintiff fell and sustained severe and debilitating injuries as a result of the dangerous condition on the premises that resulted from a failure to supervise.

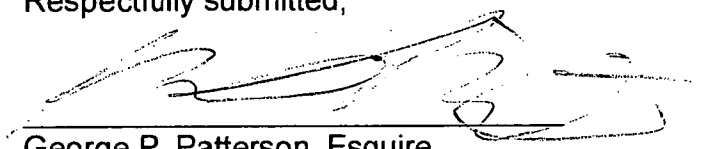

20. The Defendants negligently supervised the maintenance and repair of the display case by employees, agents and/or independent contractors, resulting in a hazardous condition that was not repaired or marked with warning devices.

21. The Defendants had the ability to identify the hazard, prevent the hazard, and to correct the hazard.

22. As a result of the aforementioned failures, the Plaintiff sustained the aforementioned injuries and damages.

Wherefore, the Plaintiff, Edward Shepherd, seeks judgment against Defendants Supervalu, Inc., and James Spradbrow in an amount exceeding Seventy Five Thousand Dollars ($75,000.00), plus interest and costs of this suit.
